

ABSTRACT

A method of configuring a hard copy output engine includes downloading data including a configuration plug-in and configuration data each including user-specified information and configuring the hard copy output engine using the downloaded data.

09976630.101101